

WARSZAWSKIE TOWARZYSTWO WIOŚLARSKIE

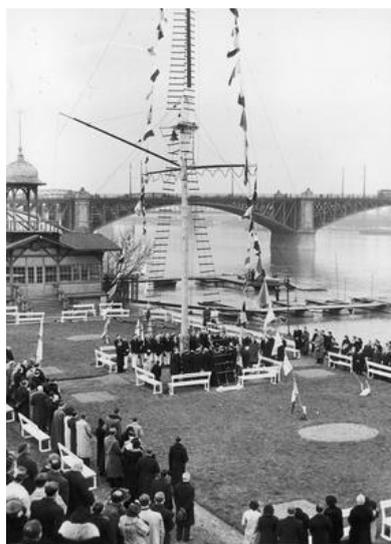

The Warsaw Rowing Association celebrates its 140th anniversary this year. It is the first sports association in Poland. Over the years of wars and political turmoil, WTW (WRA) members have maintained their identity and purpose to promote physical culture and activities for the benefit of their homeland. In the years of splendor, the Association gathered 2,000 members, including national heroes such as Henryk Sienkiewicz or Bolesław Prus.

WTW members have won two Olympic medals:

Edward Kobylński - bronze in Los Angeles, 1932

Joanna Hentka - bronze in Rio, 2016
